

The Weekly Agenda | A Mission Chinese Chef Pops up in Copenhagen, the FYF Fest in Los Angeles and More From the Cultural Calendar
CULTURE, FOOD, TRAVEL, WOMEN'S FASHION By JOHNNY MAGDALENO
AUGUST 18, 2014 9:00 AM

The curators Adrian Schiesser and April Gertler of Sonntag Berlin, which will exhibit the works of Ignacio Uriarte this Sunday at Schiesser's apartment and serve the artist's favorite dessert. Frank Herfort

Sunday, Berlin

Visit a homey art space, and try an artist's favorite dessert

As part of the first Project Space Festival, an independent art space showcase in Berlin which runs until Aug. 31, the gallery Sonntag Berlin is hosting the ultra-minimalist works of Ignacio Uriarte. Sonntag's approach to the art world is homey and unique: On the third Sunday of every month, the curators April Gertler and Adrian Schiesser exhibit works by a selected artist in Schiesser's apartment, where they also bake and serve visitors the artist's favorite cake, pie or dessert.

Aug. 17 from 2 p.m. to 6 p.m., Gossowstrasse 10, 10777, Berlin, sonntagberlin.tumblr.com.