BIG SMALL TALK

Big Small Talk: Aug. 1-8

A month of independent art in Berlin, a London exhibition of historical color photographs from Russia and the elliptical 'bike' that's all the rage this summer

Elliptigo 11R

*The KitInstant duathlon

Essentially an elliptical trainer on wheels, the Elliptigo 11R combines the low-impact workout of cycling with the physical demands of running. Having recently been used for both a mass participation ride in London and the 1,000-kilometer Mille Cymru endurance event in Wales, the Elliptigo can be used to rack up the miles the way a bike would, but also offers you an effective and cushioned workout over the sort of shorter distances preferred by runners. The 11R is the lightest, 11-gear flagship of a range that includes three and eight-gear choices as well. £2,999; elliptigo.co.uk JE

Berlin's inaugural Project Space Festival launches in August. die raum, Vinyl Terror & -Horror, 2011 / Jan Wandszus

The Festival

A movable feast

Berliners are in for an artistic treat in August when the inaugural Project Space Festival launches. Each day of the month, one of the 30 participating independent art spaces in the capital will play host to some kind of event or intervention (the last night is a wrap party). Some spaces are doing one-day-only shows while others are putting on projects across Berlin. But the details of each space's event will only be made public the day before it happens. projectspacefestival-berlin.com GB

Boodles' Ocean of Dreams couture display at Harrods in London

The Jewelry

Sea dazzling

Dive into a sea-inspired collection of jewels at London's Harrods during August with Boodles' Ocean of Dreams couture display. The British fine jewelers will be showcasing the pieces, part of their Wonderland collection, exclusively in the Knightsbridge store from Aug. 1 to 29. Highlights include "Seashore Drift," made up of green tourmaline set with pearls and white diamonds, and "Deep Sea Treasure," a necklace made of South Sea and freshwater pearls set in rose gold. Perfect for budding mermaids. Prices on application; harrods.com JS

The Photographs

Capturing revolution

"Primrose: Early Colour Photography in Russia," at London's Photographers' Gallery, reflects not only the developments in photography from the 1860s to the 1970s but also the turbulent history and social transformation of Russia during the period. Aug.
